Curvy Tabitha has been given a new job working in London but, for her, it is a long way from home and she is missing New York. She does not know a soul and she is feeling lonely to the point of actually feeling stranded in London. Things pick up when she meets a handsome English gentleman named Freddie who also works at the company and they instantly connect and embark on a secret office affair. They have led totally different lives yet they have so much in common and Tabitha feels like it was meant to be. However, Freddie seems reluctant to let it become anything more than a brief affair and Tabitha wonders why. Does he really feel the same about her? Or is there something else he is hiding? This is a complete novel. No cliffhangers, so read and enjoy to the end! Warning: This book contains very steamy scenes between a curvy black woman and a strong white alpha male.
