

Foresight 20/20: A Futurist Explores the Trends Transforming Tomorrow

The forces transforming tomorrow are profound, powerful and accelerating. The Internet, social networks, crowd-sourcing, gaming dynamics, new information and communication technologies, robotics, biotechnology and nanotechnology are all converging to transform everything from agriculture, energy, education and law enforcement to healthcare, manufacturing, banking and finance, retail and transportation. In Foresight 20/20, professional futurists and business forecasters Jack Uldrich and Simon Anderson have developed thirteen scenarios designed to aid the reader in understanding how a variety of technological trends are transforming the world of tomorrow. The trends are exciting and scary, positive or negative, prosaic and profound, and will impact both ones personal or professional life. As Cervantes said centuries ago, Forewarned, forearmed; to be prepared is half the victory. Foresight 20/20 goes one step further and not only prepares the reader for victory but also instills in the reader the confidence necessary to create tomorrows victories.
